

Of Interest to WOMEN

DAILY THOUGHT.
No adulation; 'tis the death of virtue!
Who flatters is of all mankind the lowest;
Save he who courts the flatterer.

—Mure

department. This made it possible to double and sometimes triple the number of visits, such as visits in the houses investigating for the charge of men in the army, and various services popular in this department of Red Cross work in the two years in which she was in the continuous service of the Red Cross. Mrs. Dawson says she never met with greater responsiveness nor courtesy than was displayed on the part of Tulsa people.

Miss Nell Corbin entertained with a box party at the Empress, followed by the serving of refreshments in the superette tea room Saturday afternoon as a compliment to Miss Verona Higgins, who is visiting friends in town. Miss Corbin's guests included Mrs. E. F. Strong, Mrs. John W. Middleton, Misses Marguerite Gandy, Miss Hammer, Alma Woodard, and Yvonne Burkhardt.
